

HELEN GOULD BARS CROWD AT WEDDING

Sipp's Lawyer Held for Trial in Graft Bribe Scandal

WEATHER—Fair to-night and Thursday; warmer.

FINAL EDITION.

The World.

FINAL EDITION.

"Circulation Books Open to All."

"Circulation Books Open to All."

PRICE ONE CENT.

Copyright, 1913, by The News Publishing Co. (The New York World).

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1913.

20 PAGES

PRICE ONE CENT.

GRAFT INFORMER'S COUNSEL HELD UNDER $1,000 BAIL FOR TRIAL IN SIPP BRIBERY

Newell Defers Plea After Long Conference With Whitman.

QUICK ACTION ON FOYE

Indictment of Policeman Who Accused Curran Is Reported.

Edward H. Newell, former counsel to George A. Sipp, was arraigned before Justice Goff this afternoon to plead to an indictment charging him with willfully dissuading a witness—George Sipp—to testify in a prosecution instituted by the District Attorney. The offense charged against Newell is a misdemeanor. There was no indictment returned against him charging him with bribing Sipp with money.

Newell's counsel asked that the pleading be deferred until next Monday. The request was granted, and Justice Goff fixed bail at $1,000, which was promptly furnished.

The actual return of the indictment, which was voted by the Grand Jury yesterday, was somewhat of a surprise. It had been supposed that Lawyer Newell would go before the Grand Jury as a witness for the State and that the indictment would never be filed.

NEWELL AND COUNSEL CONFERENCE WITH WHITMAN.

Newell and his counsel, William M. K. O'Leary, visited the District Attorney this morning and remained with him forty minutes. They refused to state to reporters the object of their visit.

"If all that has been printed about me is true," said Mr. Newell, "I deserve to be indicted. But it is not true. The indictment, if based on the stories of Sipp, his wife and their son as such stories have appeared in the newspapers, is based on false statements. Particularly false and ridiculous is the statement credited to Mrs. Sipp, that I tried to persuade her husband and her son to sign a retraction of the charges Sipp had made against Policeman Fox. Both Sipp and his son had signed two statements charging Fox with bribery. It would have been foolish to try to get them to sign one statement retracting two."

"I was counsel for Sipp when he left town. Mr. Whitman asked me to try to bring him back. I went to Sipp, who told me he would not return unless the District Attorney guaranteed to grant him immunity from prosecution for any crime he might have committed in the last five years."

"This message from Sipp I communicated to Assistant District Attorney Gould. While I was waiting for a response, I visited Sipp and found he had

(Continued on Second Page.)

World Ad. Eclipses All Its Competitors

Here's the Ad.

Here's What It Did:

Half-Brother, Doves, Form Co., 30 West 34th St., New York City, Jan. 20th, 1913.

New York World.

New York Herald.

New York Tribune.

New York Times.

New York Journal.

New York Sun.

New York Post.

New York Mirror.

New York Enquirer.

New York Express.

New York Tribune.

New York Times.

New York Journal.

New York Sun.

New York Post.

New York Mirror.

New York Enquirer.

New York Express.

New York Tribune.

New York Times.

New York Journal.

New York Sun.

New York Post.

New York Mirror.

New York Enquirer.

New York Express.

HUBBY, "EXHIBIT A" IN WIFE'S SUIT, WINS BY HIS 230 POUNDS

His Massive Frame and Steatorian Voice Disprove Her Charge He's a Consumptive.

COURT ENJOYS JOKE.

Mr. Jackson's "Evidence," Revealed by Guffaw, Puts Quick Stop to Wife's Testimony.

Justice Goff Imposes Maximum of 7 1/2 Years on Real Estate Swindler.

PLEA FOR MERCY DENIED

Wizard Who Used Women as Lure of Investors to Stand Further Trials.

Edgar R. Jackson, convicted last Friday of swindling, was sentenced by Justice Goff today to serve not less than five years nor more than seven and one-half years in Sing Sing Prison. The maximum sentence for the offense charged against Jackson as a first offender is imprisonment from five years to ten years.

Jackson was convicted of swindling Miss Mary Griffith of Akron, O., out of $5,000 by selling her worthless mortgages on land near Garden City, L. I. The woman had to borrow $1,000 to make up her $5,000 investment.

When Jackson was arraigned today, his counsel, James W. Osborne, made a long plea for clemency. Mr. Osborne brought in the case of Mrs. Berry, the widow who killed herself last Sunday because her maid and companion, Elizabeth Wilson, said she had lost more than $25,000 in Jackson's schemes.

MRS. BERRY PROFITED, SAYS JACKSON'S COUNSEL.

"Mrs. Berry," said Mr. Osborne, "took more money out of the Jackson company than she put in. She killed herself because she had been an invalid for a long time."

"I have read of the case," said Justice Goff. "It will not influence my action in this case."

Mr. Osborne made application, later in the day, to Justice Hendrick in the Supreme Court for a certificate of reasonable doubt. There are three more indictments against Jackson and he will be tried on one of them within a few days.

Jackson later in the day obtained an order from Justice Greenbaum to show cause why he should not be admitted to bail pending an appeal from his conviction. The order is returnable Friday, before Justice Hendrick. Meantime, Jackson will remain in the Tombs prison.

Detective Flood arrived in the city this afternoon, having in custody Clarence P. Day who, it is charged, was formerly associated with Jackson in his land swindles. Day was arrested at Springfield, Ohio, on instructions to the police there that he had been indicted in this city.

GIRL USED AS LURE ALONE LOYAL TO JACKSON.

He is accused with Jackson and others of swindling Dr. Ledy of Yonkers and others out of $25,000. Day was arraigned before Judge Roosevelt, who fixed bail at $5,000 which was furnished.

Beside Jackson, probably the person who was most affected today by his sentence was Miss Ruth E. Pace, who has acted as a dummy in many of the real estate wizard's transactions.

Miss Pace, who was formerly a school teacher in Hartford, Conn., came from her home town in 1909 to join her sister, Mrs. Ada Blankenship, who was a partner with Jackson in several ventures. Neither woman has any knowledge that he was transacting business on strictly legitimate lines. Jackson's personal magnetism made him much loved by all who came in contact with him, particularly Miss Pace, who has remained loyal to him to the end.

According to E. B. Dickinson, a lawyer of No. 206 Broadway, Jackson gave Miss Pace the now famous Rosemary Cottage, at Garden City, L. I., a gift worth $15,000.

To Improve Shrewsbury River. WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Improvement of the Shrewsbury River in New Jersey at a cost of $250,000 by providing a six-foot channel was recommended to Congress today by Gen. Bixby, Chief of the Army Engineers.

Latest Photograph of Helen Miller Gould, Who To-Day Became Mrs. Finley J. Shepard

Full Description of the Bride's Costume.

Duchess ivory satin with three-and-a-half-yard train, of train. Slippers corresponded with gown, trimmed with small rosettes of orange blossoms. Long sleeves and neck cut V-shape. General effect of gown is long lines.

Jewels consisted of a string of exquisite pearls said to have belonged to Empress Josephine and formerly belonged to the bride's mother. Within the pearls, surrounding the neck, was worn a beautiful pear-shaped diamond pendant, the gift of the bridegroom. The bride carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, her favorite flower, and also carried a beautiful point lace with a spray of orange blossoms and extended to limit.

(Copyrighted by Falk, N. Y.)

STRIKER'S THROAT CUT AS MOB TRAPS NON-UNION TAILOR

Cornered in Shop, Terrified Worker Seizes Knife and Slashes at Invaders.

John Ryan of No. 50 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, lies perhaps mortally wounded in the Swedish Hospital as the result of injuries he received last night in a pitched battle between strikers and non-union clothing workers.

Ernest Migal of No. 35 Bergen Street, who ripped Ryan's throat open with a knife when he found himself hemmed in by angry strikers, was held without bail in the Flatbush Avenue Court today to await the probably fatal outcome of Ryan's injuries. Charles A. Cully of No. 422 St. Mark's Avenue, was held in $1,000 bail for assaulting Migal.

Truavis started at 9 o'clock last night, when the non-union employees, who have taken the place of the striking operatives in the Kenyon Company's big raincoat manufactory at Atlantic and Carlton Avenue, left the building. A crowd of about five hundred strikers closed in on them and followed them down the street.

Migal, outnumbered by the menacing strikers, tried to take refuge in flight. He dodged into the little tailor shop of Abe Jackowsky. When the foremost members of the mob charged into the shop Migal seized a knife from a bench and whipped it across Ryan's throat from ear to ear.

HENNESSY FILLS NEW OFFICE

Sulzer Appoints Newspaperman Executive Auditor.

ALBANY, Jan. 22.—Gov. Sulzer today appointed John A. Hennessy of Brooklyn executive auditor, salary $4,000. He is a well-known newspaper man, who has the Governor's confidence, and his work in the newly created office will be to put a stop to unnecessary expenses.

Gov. Sulzer explaining the creation of the new office to which Mr. Hennessy has been appointed said:

"The people would stand amazed if they knew of some of the things that have been going on in this State for years. I learned that the State has been paying out bills to contractors without properly investigating the accounts rendered. The committee of inquiry has agreed with me that something must be done to guard against possible fraud and graft in this connection. It will be a part of Mr. Hennessy's duty to examine bills rendered by contractors."

Jewels and Much Silver in Gould Wedding Gifts; Official List Given Out

Following is a partial list of the Helen Gould wedding presents:

From Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, an extraordinary corage pin, consisting of a large bowknot of diamonds and pearls, with a huge marquise diamond exquisitely set in platinum surrounded by pearls, suspended therefrom by strands of pearls so arranged as to give a ribbon effect some three or four inches in length.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gould, a long fan chain made up entirely of diamonds set in platinum.

Howard Gould, a beautiful imported ivory statue entitled "Honor."

The Duchess de Talleyrand provided the lace for the bride's wedding gown, lace handkerchief and the exquisite—really marvelous—lace veil.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jay Gould, a chain necklace of pearls, diamonds and emeralds, from which suspends a large triangular shaped pendant of diamonds and emeralds of rare beauty.

Helen and Dorothy Gould, pieces of the bride, a bag of delicately wrought gold mesh mounted with sapphires.

Kingdon, George Jr., Edith and Gloria Gould, children of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, an exceedingly handsome square-cut diamond ring set in platinum surrounded with brilliant.

EMPLOYEES SEND HER PRACTICAL GIFTS. Mr. and Mrs. Robble and the employees at Lyndhurst, a silver centerpiece for fruits or flowers. From the employees of the town house a table set of silver nut dishes. Daniel S. Miller, uncle of the bride, a rare book, beautifully tooled, binding inlaid with precious stones.

Mrs. F. Z. Dickinson, the bride's aunt, a handsome silver tray with coffee urn, formerly the property of the bride's grandmother.

Gramme by Nathan Franko and an orchestra of forty pieces which played behind a heavy screen of palms and the soft and marvelous beauty of the blossoms with which the walls were banked, the wedding was plain as that of the bride of any of the thousands of working girls who have been encouraged and aided by Miss Gould's endeavors.

The bride entered on the arm of her brother George and was met at the floral altar before Mr. Russell by the bridegroom, who was attended by Louis Shepard, his brother.

Miss Gould's wedding gown was of ivory white satin, embellished with rare point lace, the gift of her sister Anna. The veil was also of point lace.

Helen and Dorothy Gould, aged ten and eight years, were the attendants, acting as flower girls. They were gown in dainty pale pink satin covered with lace; white silk stockings and white slippers, adorned with butterfly buckles. Each carried a basket of pink roses.

SOFTENED LIGHT ENHANCES THE BEAUTY OF FLOWERS. The southwest drawing room is almost altogether glassed in and in order to soften the hard brilliance of the January sun, the windows had been blocked and the spaces in front of them covered by flowers and vines. The electric lights, hidden in the foliage, were subdued to a soft yellow, which gave greater beauty to the blossoms and the green leaves of the walls. Either by accident or by the work of one of the household, the curtain of one window shifted aside just as Rev. Mr. Russell joined the hands of the bridal couple and a broad shaft of sunlight fell across the heads of the three.

Among those who witnessed the nuptials were Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, Mr. Kingdon Gould, Mrs. and Mrs. Jay Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Dreese Jr., Master George Jay Gould Jr., the Misses Edith and Gloria Gould.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gould and their sons, Messrs. Edwin Jr. and Frank Miller Gould.

Duc and Duchess de Talleyrand, with their son, the little Prince de Sagan. Mr. Howard Gould.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jay Gould. All of the above were of the bride's immediate family.

Of the bridegroom's family there were present Mr. and Mrs. Burton H. Wright, Mrs. D. W. Cutter, Miss Cutter and Mr. Louis J. Shepard.

Only a few very old family friends were there, among them Doctor and Mrs. Charles H. Snow, Miss Helen Gould Snow, Messrs. Gordon and Howard Snow, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bush, Mrs. William Northrup, Miss Ida Northrup, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Perrell, Miss Lia Perrell, Mr. Rex Perrell, Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Northrup.

All the guests not immediate members of the family went to Irvington from this city in the two private cars attached to the Albany local leaving the Grand Central Station at 2:15. It

(Continued on Second Page.)

HELEN GOULD PASSES HONEYMOON AT HOME; GUARDS AT WEDDING

Simple Ceremony Early This Afternoon in Lyndhurst, Her Country Home, Unites Her With Finley J. Shepard.

ONLY SEVENTY-FIVE GUESTS WERE INVITED.

Bride Distributes Among the Guests Heart-Shaped Satin Cake Boxes with Initials of Herself and Husband.

Helen Miller Gould was married at her country home, Lyndhurst, at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, at 12:38 o'clock this afternoon to Finley J. Shepard, vice-president of the Missouri Pacific, the railroad which her father, Jay Gould, made part of his steel highway between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Without any affectation of austerity or pretense that the occasion was not worthy of the most beautiful setting which the wealth represented it could afford, the wedding was as simple and as quiet as all of the bride's busy life has been.

By the express direction of Miss Gould, the only alcohol in the dining room or anywhere else about the premises during the festivities was that used to keep food warm on the serving table. The thrift of the guests was that used by spring water and grape juice. A vanload of such liquid refreshments was delivered during the morning.

No authoritative information was given out regarding the honeymoon plans of Mr. and Mrs. Shepard. It seemed to be generally understood at Lyndhurst that the couple would stay there a week or two and then go to Europe. The presence of an unidentified yacht off the Gould place gave rise to rumors that the honeymoon was to be spent on the water, but the household arrangements indicated otherwise.

TWO LITTLE NIECES BRIDE'S ATTENDANTS. Miss Gould was attended by her little nieces, Helen, her namesake, and Dorothy, daughters of Frank Gould. Only seventy-five guests were present when the wedding procession moved down the broad central stairway of the house into the embowered east drawing room, where the Rev. Daniel Russell was in waiting. Mr. Russell arrived at Lyndhurst two hours before the hour set for the wedding, presumably for a final brief rehearsal.

Beyond an elaborate musical program by Nathan Franko and an orchestra of forty pieces which played behind a heavy screen of palms and the soft and marvelous beauty of the blossoms with which the walls were banked, the wedding was plain as that of the bride of any of the thousands of working girls who have been encouraged and aided by Miss Gould's endeavors.

The bride entered on the arm of her brother George and was met at the floral altar before Mr. Russell by the bridegroom, who was attended by Louis Shepard, his brother.

Miss Gould's wedding gown was of ivory white satin, embellished with rare point lace, the gift of her sister Anna. The veil was also of point lace.

Helen and Dorothy Gould, aged ten and eight years, were the attendants, acting as flower girls. They were gown in dainty pale pink satin covered with lace; white silk stockings and white slippers, adorned with butterfly buckles. Each carried a basket of pink roses.

SOFTENED LIGHT ENHANCES THE BEAUTY OF FLOWERS. The southwest drawing room is almost altogether glassed in and in order to soften the hard brilliance of the January sun, the windows had been blocked and the spaces in front of them covered by flowers and vines. The electric lights, hidden in the foliage, were subdued to a soft yellow, which gave greater beauty to the blossoms and the green leaves of the walls. Either by accident or by the work of one of the household, the curtain of one window shifted aside just as Rev. Mr. Russell joined the hands of the bridal couple and a broad shaft of sunlight fell across the heads of the three.

Among those who witnessed the nuptials were Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, Mr. Kingdon Gould, Mrs. and Mrs. Jay Gould, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Dreese Jr., Master George Jay Gould Jr., the Misses Edith and Gloria Gould.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gould and their sons, Messrs. Edwin Jr. and Frank Miller Gould.

Duc and Duchess de Talleyrand, with their son, the little Prince de Sagan. Mr. Howard Gould.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jay Gould. All of the above were of the bride's immediate family.

Of the bridegroom's family there were present Mr. and Mrs. Burton H. Wright, Mrs. D. W. Cutter, Miss Cutter and Mr. Louis J. Shepard.

Only a few very old family friends were there, among them Doctor and Mrs. Charles H. Snow, Miss Helen Gould Snow, Messrs. Gordon and Howard Snow, Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Bush, Mrs. William Northrup, Miss Ida Northrup, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Perrell, Miss Lia Perrell, Mr. Rex Perrell, Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Northrup.

All the guests not immediate members of the family went to Irvington from this city in the two private cars attached to the Albany local leaving the Grand Central Station at 2:15. It

(Continued on Second Page.)